

your guide to the village

unsw village

Being part of a safe and supportive residential community can make such a difference to the university experience, especially for those who are living away from home for the first time. A lot of work has been put into the design of the Village, our facilities and our residential life program so we can provide these fantastic opportunities for our residents to live, learn and grow. We're always thinking of new ways to enhance the student experience.

UNSW Village is managed by global student accommodation specialists, Campus Living Villages (CLV). Drawing on extensive international experience, CLV has fine-tuned the art of creating vibrant and supportive communities for students from all over the world.

UNSW Village offers an ideal balance between living on campus in a student community and independent living. Academic support, pastoral care and a wide range of activities and events are an essential part of life at the Village, with residents also enjoying high quality apartment-style accommodation.

The Village aims to provide a secure and supportive environment, quality residential life programmes and enhance our residents' academic success.

Working in partnership with the University, UNSW Village is setting a new standard in student accommodation.

a secure, supportive community

Offering the best of both worlds, UNSW Village's independent lifestyle is complemented by support networks to help students settle into the community and access assistance if necessary.

Staff are onsite 24 hours a day, with security patrols and Resident Assistants (RAs) also available at night. As students, RAs are part of the community and provide a support network that understands resident needs.

Staff members are trained in first aid, crisis management and dealing with personal issues, and work with University support staff to ensure residents receive all the assistance they require.

If parents have any concerns, we can be contacted at all hours of the day and have procedures in place to ensure that appropriate support is provided.

more than a room

Our responsibility extends beyond just providing beds for residents. We offer the perfect transition to independence with a unique residential life program designed to help students live, learn and grow.

Live

Our active event program provides a range of social, cultural, sporting and recreational activities including orientation programs, intercollege sports competitions, trips around Sydney and movie nights. It's a great way to make friends and meet new people.

Learn

We facilitate academic success with study groups, senior student support, purpose built study rooms, seminars on exam techniques, time management, essay writing and more.

Grow

We encourage our residents to learn new skills and provide opportunities for development, with activities that promote cultural awareness, contributing to the community and learning life skills. Examples include cooking classes, guest speakers and involvement with local charities.
